Full-Stack Developer & Founder | Announcevent

(01 November, 2024 - Present)

Developed a full-stack application from concept to launch, creating Announcevent, a platform designed for event announcements, scheduling, and management.

Led the end-to-end development, including front-end design using HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, and JavaScript, and back-end development with Java, Spring Boot, and MySQL.

Integrated user authentication, secure payment gateways, and event notification systems for a seamless user experience.

Deployed the platform on AWS, ensuring scalability and security.

Implemented RESTful APIs to enable real-time updates for event organizers and attendees.

Collaborated with a small team of designers and marketers to define product features and ensure a user-friendly interface.

Gained valuable experience in project management, team leadership, and product lifecycle development.
